From a US$550,000 "near-space" flight that takes guests to the earth's middle atmosphere, to a private bobsledding experience with an Olympic medalist in Utah, a luxury travel magazine written has rounded up a list of some of the most luxurious and extravagant trips in the world.

For many of us, Elite Traveler magazine's list of Top 50 Adventures consists of bucket-list trip ideas that lie well out of our reach, created mainly for millionaires.

Elite Traveler, the world's leading private jet lifestyle magazine, has announced its definitive list of the world's Top 50 Adventures. Whether it's learning to bobsled with a former Olympian or flying 22 miles above sea level with the Near-Space package, the list covers it all. The list is run in collaboration with the Four Seasons Papayago to ensure readers are offered the greatest experiences available. With many of the trips tailored to guests, a lavish hotel suite and amenities in excess are no longer enough to entice the elite traveler, the latest trend of experiential trips offering once-in-a-lifetime opportunities bespoke to each guest are the vacations well worth booking.
